MRC in the News

The Liberal Media's Sole Objective: Destroy President Trump

The liberal media tried to prevent Donald Trump from winning the GOP presidential nomination. Then they tried to stop him from winning the presidential election. Now, they are doing all they can to destroy his presidency and remove him from office.

All pretense to fairness in reporting is gone. The liberal media, as well as Hollywood, academia, and late-night TV, are continuously attacking the president and the conservatives (and conservative policies) in his administration.

"I have never seen a media like this before," said Fox's Stuart Varney in an April interview with me. I told him, "This is not a media out to hold Donald Trump responsible. This is a media, as an institution, that is committed to his removal from office."

The perpetual assaults on Trump by the leftist media and cultural "elites" are documented and exposed 24/7 by the MRC through its divisions: NewsBusters, CNSNews.com, MRC Business, MRC Culture and MRCTV. Also, experts at the MRC are interviewed nearly every day on radio and TV, and their analyses are further spread through our grassroots army, MRC Action.

There are countless examples of the liberal media's war against the White House. Let's look at a few of the more outrageous attacks.

On the CBS Evening News in April, anchor Scott Pelley queried, "Is it appropriate to ask whether the president is having difficulty with rationality?"

MSNBC's Morning Joe flat out declared Trump mentally unstable. On April 4, contributor Donny Deutsch stated, "I know in the post-Goldwater era there's the unwritten rule in the psychiatric community that nobody diagnoses from afar, [but] I just do not think he's a well guy, period."

Bloomberg's Mark Halperin then chimed in, "How well is he if he's doing

With total seriousness, CBS Evening News anchor Scott Pelley queried his national audience, "Is it appropriate to ask whether the president is having difficulty with rationality?"

these things that any rational human being would know would hurt him politically?" Joe Scarborough asserted Trump "is not a healthy, normal, well-functioning man." Co-host Mika Brzezinski announced it was time for "the 25th Amendment. Let's do it!"

That amendment explains the procedures for presidential succession in cases of disability, resignation, or death of the commander-in-chief.

Echoing Morning Joe, Hardball host Chris Matthews smeared Trump as "no better than the weirdo in the basement who calls in the fire alarm just to hear the sirens going past.”

Matthews also attacked Ivanka Trump and her husband Jared Kushner. On multiple occasions, Matthews compared them to Saddam Hussein’s murderous sons Uday and Qusay.

White House Senior Adviser Steve Bannon is also under assault by the liberal media. MSNBC contributor Howard Dean, echoing many “journalists,” says Bannon is “a white supremacist.... [He] hates Jews.”

As for the leftist talking point that Russia somehow “colluded” and “hacked” the election – a “collusion” that is never explained or substantiated by any facts – the Washington Post ran a story quoting liberal Douglas Brinkley, “There’s a smell of treason in the air.”

Brinkley elaborated on MSNBC: “A lot of people are afraid to use the T-word, treason, but in the end, that’s what people are investigating. People talk about collusion with Russia. We’re talking about whether there are people that worked in the Trump campaign who meddled in an American election.... That’s treason.”

Not even three months into the Trump presidency and TIME magazine was asking how to impeach the president.

Brinkley, like the rest of the leftist media, never reveals how this alleged collusion worked. They just make the claim, over and over again. It is fake news.

As for Trump’s energy policies, the New York Times ran a commentary with the headline, “Trump Risks the Planet,” i.e., Trump is so dangerous he could destroy the Earth. The NYT piece asked, “Are there ways to avert this madness?”

TIME magazine published an eye-rolling article on April 12 with the headline, “How Difficult Would It Be to Impeach President Trump?” TIME harped, “Some of Trump’s critics have argued that his business dealings are in violation of the Constitution’s Emoluments

On ABC’s The View, uber-liberal Joy Behar rallies the audience against President Trump: “He needs to be impeached! He is a menace! You say Kim Jong Yum-yum is crazy? So is he, so is he.”

Clause.... [Others] have argued that the ties between Russia and Trump’s team are signs of wrongdoing.”

That same day, former Chicago Tribune Editor James Warren blogged at the journalism site Poynter.org, “Could Trump be Impeached for Bashing the Press?” Warren cited Harvard professor and Bloomberg contributor Noah Feldman, who claimed that Trump’s allegedly “subtle, careful, slow, undercutting of press freedom” is an impeachable offense.

Over at ABC’s The View, Joy Behar railed, “He needs to be taken out of office! He needs to be impeached! He is a menace! You say Kim Jong Yum-yum is crazy? So is he, so is he.” Three days later on The View, rapper Tip “T.I.” Harris smeared Trump as “the poster boy for white supremacy.”

Not to be outdone, the Los Angeles Times has published a multi-part editorial series slamming Trump. The parts, so far, are headlined “Our Dishonest President, Why Trump Lies, Trump’s Authoritarian Vision, Trump’s War on Journalism,” and “Conspiracy Theorist in Chief.”

In addition to attacks from the liberal media, late-night talk shows and Saturday Night Live regularly mock Trump and White House staffers, something they did not do with President Obama. Hollywood – Meryl Streep, Ashley Judd, and Rob Reiner, to name a few – is also on the march against Trump.

The leftist media and the elite purveyors of American culture are in lockstep. They want Trump gone and they will not stop until he is removed from office.

The MRC is documenting and exposing their attacks, on Trump in particular and conservatism in general. No other organization does this work. We are America’s media watchdog.

We do not have the resources of the news networks or Hollywood but you can help us in this good fight by making a donation to the MRC and becoming an MRC member. Call us (571-267-3500) or visit our website (mrc.org). We look forward to speaking with you.

Sincerely,

Liberal Media Ignore Positive Economic News Under President Trump

In their nonstop war against the Trump administration, the liberal media often ignore or downplay positive news. This is called bias by omission, and it is clearly being practiced with news about the economy and jobs.

Since Trump was inaugurated, the economic news for America has been very positive. But you wouldn't know that if you were watching ABC, CBS or NBC. For instance, every month the hugely influential ADP National Employment Report is released. In March, as with January and February, all the major indicators except one were positive.

Nationally, private sector employment went up by 263,000 jobs between February and March – 83,000 more than economists had projected. More specifically, mining jobs rose by 4,000, construction jobs by 49,000, and manufacturing jobs, 30,000. Every other major sector was up in the tens of thousands, except for the information industry, which lost 10,000 jobs.

It was “another blowout” jobs report, said CNBC Senior Economics Reporter Steve Liesman. His colleague Jim Cramer also praised the ADP report, noting it is “the kind of thing that can make the [stock market] rally continue.” The Dow Jones Industrial Average has surged 12% since Trump's Nov. 8 election.

The markets responded immediately to the ADP findings. Within five minutes the Dow futures market rose 50 points – higher than projected – and by noon was up 150 points.

Despite that positive economic news, the nightly network news shows did not report on it.

There wasn't one story on the CBS Evening News, NBC Nightly News or ABC World News.

On April 4, Trump met with 50 CEOs and business leaders to discuss his economic agenda. New York Stock Exchange President Tom Farley said the gathering was “really productive” and he praised Trump's “business-friendly” platform. When asked by Fox's Neil Cavuto if recent economic improvement was because of Trump's agenda, Farley said, “unquestionably, I think that's manifest. Business confidence has improved, consumer confidence has improved since the election.”

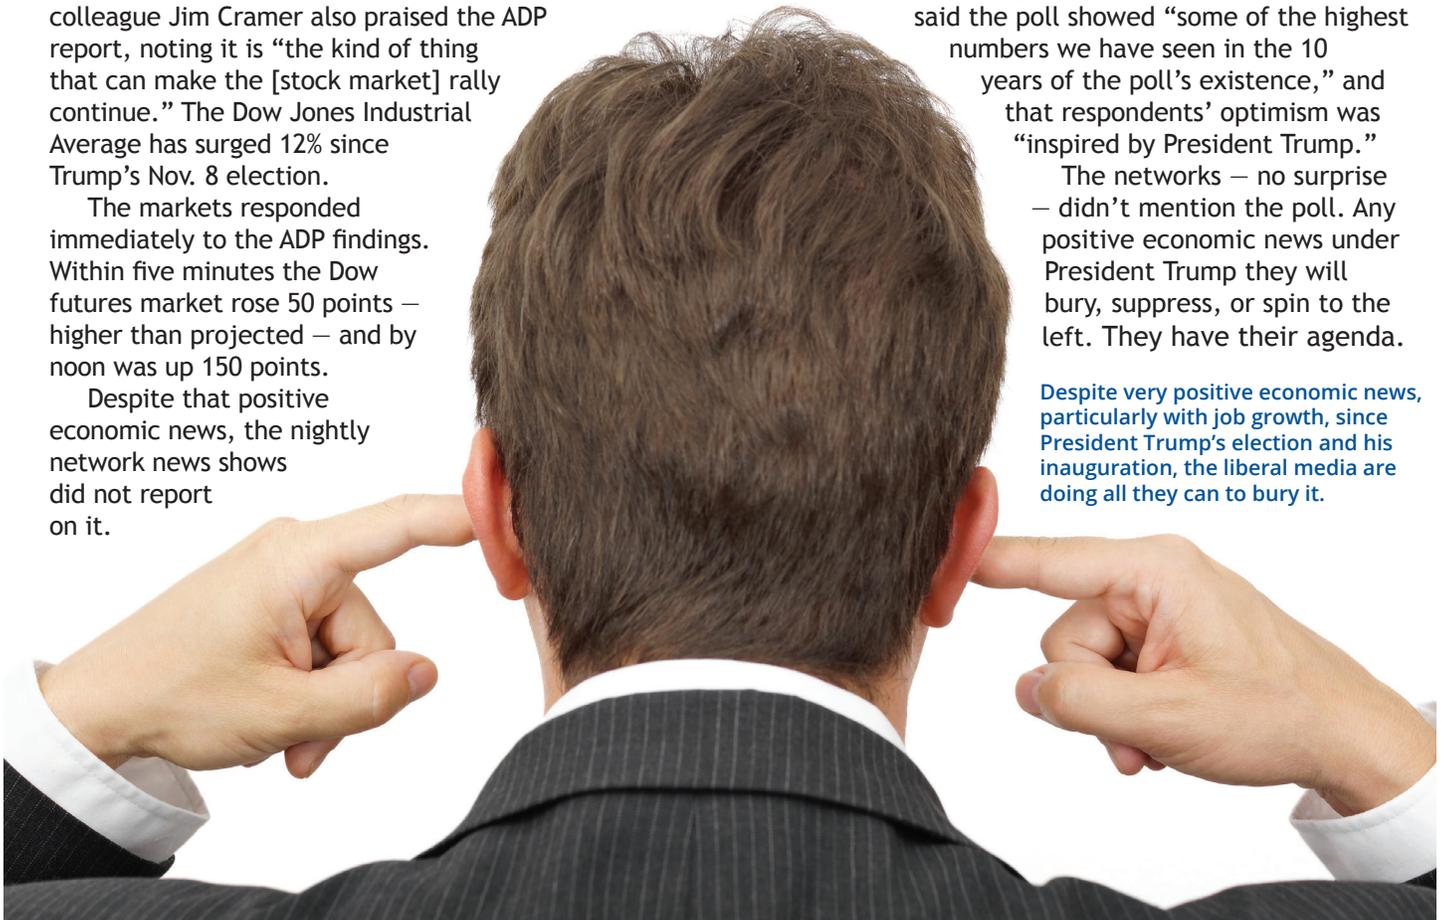

That night, not one network news show reported on Trump's meeting with the 50 CEOs.

According to Fox's Cavuto, that April 4 meeting marked the 17th time Trump had met with business leaders since becoming president, which is more than President Obama had in his entire eight years.

On April 12, CNBC released a poll showing that 40% of Americans believed “the economy is good or excellent right now.” CNBC's Steve Liesman said the poll showed “some of the highest numbers we have seen in the 10 years of the poll's existence,” and that respondents' optimism was “inspired by President Trump.”

The networks – no surprise – didn't mention the poll. Any positive economic news under President Trump they will bury, suppress, or spin to the left. They have their agenda.

Despite very positive economic news, particularly with job growth, since President Trump's election and his inauguration, the liberal media are doing all they can to bury it.

Bits & Pieces

CNN's Jim Acosta apparently believes that the First Amendment does not allow for criticism of the liberal media.

CNN's Jim 'The Whiner' Acosta

Apparently unaware of the First Amendment, CNN's Jim Acosta slammed President Trump and his supporters in April for criticizing the liberal media in general and CNN in particular. Americans must "believe what's being said in the mainstream news media," lectured Acosta, and then whined that Trump "is doing real damage to the First Amendment when he refers to the news media as the enemies of the people."

"Words matter, and those kinds of attacks have to be taken seriously," he fretted, adding that Trump "has an unhealthy attitude toward the news media" as do crowds that chant "CNN sucks." Acosta railed on, "when you have a side of the news media that just insists time and again that CNN is out to get the president or out to get certain people in this country, I think it does a tremendous disservice to all Americans."

For the record, Jim, CNN is out to get the president.

Killer Caught, Nets Silent

The Mexican suspected of killing U.S. Border Patrol agent Brian Terry back in 2010 was captured through a joint U.S.-Mexico manhunt in mid-April but ABC, CBS, and NBC said not a word. The suspected killer, Heraclio Osorio-Arellanes, was targeted based on DNA evidence and eyewitness testimony. He had been deported 7 times from the United States before he shot Brian Terry at the Arizona-Mexico border.

Jake Tapper was the only liberal cable journalist to report this startling news. As he noted, Terry's death "exposed the failed gun-tracking operation known as Fast and Furious," which had been implemented by President Obama and Attorney General Eric Holder. The latter was held in contempt of Congress for refusing to turn over documents about the operation. By not covering this important story, the networks are still protecting the Obama administration and proving, again, that they are enemies of the people.

Jim Acosta, call your office.

The suspected killer of U.S. Border Patrol agent Brian Terry was finally caught but ABC, CBS, and NBC did not report this very important and positive news.

Party Favorites

A recent Gallup poll further confirmed one of the major points the MRC has documented over the years: Americans believe the media overwhelmingly favor one political party over the other. As the poll showed, 64% of U.S. adults who believe the media tilt toward a political party say they favor the Democrats. Only 22% think the media favor the Republicans.

On another sour note for the liberal media, 55% of Americans believe the news groups' stories and reports are "often inaccurate." Only 36% think the media generally get the facts straight. Simply put, a majority of Americans don't trust the liberal media's reporting, and they believe the news groups favor the party of progressivism and liberalism.

This latest poll is just another indication of the MRC's success in neutralizing the liberal media.

Nets Censor FGM

The first case of a U.S. Muslim doctor being charged with the federal crime of female genital mutilation (FGM) – the two alleged victims were 7 years old – was completely ignored by ABC, CBS and NBC. Dr. Jumana Nagarwala, from Detroit, Mich., was arrested on April 13. Fox’s Tucker Carlson Tonight and the New York Times ran stories on the horrific crime.

Because of the networks’ blackout, MRC President Brent Bozell and ACT for America Chairman Brigitte Gabriel issued a statement that partly said, “You would think an extremely brutal practice of violence against women would make TV headlines here at home, but you would be wrong.

“Where is the outrage? The hypocrisy is staggering. The networks, which have for years championed the causes of left-wing feminists and women’s rights, are conspicuously silent on this case and their silence is deafening.... If they don’t [report this], they are guilty of aiding and abetting violence against women out of a politically correct fueled fear of offending Muslims.”

Run, Liz, Run!

MSNBC’s Andrea Mitchell and USA Today’s Susan Page were positively giddy on Apr. 17 about the prospect of left-wing Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.) running for president in 2020. Promoting an interview of Warren on MSNBC Live, Page excitedly recalled, “I asked if she was going to promise Massachusetts voters that she would serve all six years of her second Senate term. And she said, ‘Well, that’s certainly the plan.’ That is not exactly a denial of interest in the 2020 presidential race.”

Mitchell chimed in, “At all. And she’s 67 years old. She is plenty young enough compared to Donald Trump, Hillary Clinton to run four years from now.” Page gushed, “Yeah, she is. And she’s got, of course, a huge base of support among liberals in the Democratic Party who feel like if only she or Bernie Sanders had been nominated last time around, they believe they would have had a better chance of defeating the kind of campaign that Donald Trump ran.”

Wall-to-wall liberal media coverage on the day of the release of Elizabeth Warren’s new book, which “could be the unofficial start to a campaign for the White House in 2020.” Matt Lauer and Savannah Guthrie gushed over their “very important guest,” calling her “Trump’s Agitator” and “a leading voice of the Trump opposition.” NBC’s Matt Lauer gleefully promoted this bit regarding a presidential campaign: “Because a lot of people are already printing up those bumper stickers for 2020 that say, ‘She was warned, she was given an explanation, nevertheless, she persisted.’”

Time to Stop Taxpayer-Funded Propaganda

The defunding of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting is long past overdue. No president, including Ronald Reagan, seriously pushed an immediate winding down of this corrupt and outdated waste of taxpayer funds. Who would have ever imagined that Donald Trump would be the first to do this?

His first budget takes that step, not just to save of ton of taxpayer money ($450 million is a lot of money), but to establish a principle about our leftist media. It's simply not appropriate for the federal government to fund Democratic propaganda badly disguised as "news."

Is it any surprise, then, that the media have come unglued?

CNN anchor Martin Savidge suggested Sunday that this proposal sounds like "conservative revenge." In September, we mark the 50th anniversary of the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967, which laughably proclaimed that the taxpayer-funded TV and radio stations of America would seek "strict adherence to objectivity and balance in all programs or series of programs of a controversial nature."

There's no way to measure precisely how many billions of dollars or hundreds of thousands of hours of broadcast time conservatives would need to accomplish a tiny fraction of "revenge" for this long half-century march of leftist propaganda.

If it is "revenge" for conservatives to demand an end to this charade, then we are guilty as charged.

On CNN's Reliable Sources, PBS president Paula Kerger was offered a platform to make ridiculous statements about how PBS is all about educating small children before kindergarten, and the public should pay no attention to all the liberal "educating" they undertake in prime time.

Kerger made preposterous arguments with no rebuttal. Try this one: "Our entire programming operating budget is less than Netflix spends on the production of The Crown."

She is picking the most expensive television show ever made, with an estimated production budget of $130 million, but no matter. Now look at the last PBS financial statement for "Public Broadcasting Service and Subsidiaries." Under "Expenses" for 2016, programming was listed as $380.3 million, and in 2015, it was listed as $382.9 million.

So Kerger is playing accounting games with the term "operating budget" or with the money sent to "subsidiaries." But for the people who watch PBS stations and pay the bills -- involuntarily -- it's a difference without a distinction. It's also their typical obfuscation.

CNN's Martin Savidge says, "NPR, PBS is cherished by many, many families as both a source of information and entertainment, so why the cuts?" MRC's Dan Gainor answers, "Why the cuts? We have been pushing for this for years. I've spent 20 years in journalism. I can tell you, what you get is -- you don't get independence, you get propaganda."

On April 4, FBN's Lou Dobbs Tonight highlighted the MRC's recent study on media coverage of President Trump's first 100 days.

Since late January of 2012, the Washington Examiner's Paul Bedard has once a week featured a "Mainstream Media Scream" selection in his "Washington Secrets" column. For each pick, usually posted online on Monday, MRC Vice President Brent Baker provides an explanation and recommends a "scream" rating (scale of one to five).

Appearing live Apr. 4 on the Fox Business Network's After the Bell, Media Research Center Founder and President Brent Bozell didn't mince words when it came to the liberal media's scant coverage of the Susan Rice "unmasking" story, ruling 'CNN has been on a jihad' against any news outlets that have dared to cover the story.

LATEST MISSION

Helping Save the American Dream

Colonel George La France is a true patriot. He is a Korean War and Vietnam War veteran and served in the Army for three years and in the Air Force for more than 30 years. George and his wife, Sharon (also a former colonel), are both avid followers of politics in the news, and George has been watching the presidential elections since he was seven years old. The La France family has been worried about the outcome of elections should the media not be kept in check.

George has been a Patriot Fund™ member for more than 15 years, and truly believes in the mission of MRC. Noting MRC efforts to be a “noble cause,” he knows his monthly gift provides the MRC with a steady flow of vital income each month, and also donates monthly because he says it is a great way of “paying it forward.”

George and Sharon say they have lived the American Dream but fear that their children and grandchildren won’t have the same opportunities. Just like all patriotic Americans in this country, George and Sharon respect our first constitutional amendment and want to hold the media accountable to this standard.

Colonel (Ret.) Sharon & Colonel (Ret.) George La France, United States Air Force

Talk to us at the MRC about how you can donate monthly to hold the media accountable this election cycle. If you demand truth in media and a level playing field for politicians in the news, supporting with a monthly gift can make a great impact on our nation and the future of our country. Please contact Zeina Koinis at (571) 267-3500. or at zkoinis@mrc.org to find out how to join our team!
