Leftist Media in Anti-Trump Fury as Election Nears

The presidential election is a few short weeks away and the leftist media are doing everything they can to smear, deride, and outright lie about President Donald Trump. They want him ousted, disgraced, something they have desperately tried to accomplish since November 2016.

The press's attacks against Trump escalate every day. He is regularly labeled a racist, a psychopath and compared to Hitler or Mussolini.

This propaganda, this left-wing bias is documented and exposed by the Media Research Center 24/7 – on NewsBusters, MRC Business, MRCTV, MRC Latino, and through TV and radio interviews of our experts.

Most importantly, the MRC message is reaching millions of Americans through conservative outlets and social media. As Rush Limbaugh said, "NewsBusters rocks!" Mark Levin told his massive audience, "I check NewsBusters several times a day. It's an incredible resource." Even White House Press Secretary Kayleigh McEnany said, "Thank you NewsBusters for exposing this" leftist bias in the Washington Post.

The MRC impact against the socialist press is effective, and no one else does what we do. Let's look at how the media are trashing Trump as Election Day nears.

Clearly no longer concerned with buttressing questions with facts, the Huffington Post's White House reporter Shirish Date asked Trump on Aug. 13, "Mr. President, after three-and-a-half years, do you regret at all, all the lying you've done to the American people?" Trump paused briefly and then called on another reporter without answering.

The next day, a poll showed that one-third of Americans trusted Trump "a great deal" when he was speaking about COVID-19, a fact that drove MSNBC's Mika Brzezinski up the wall. She ranted, "What I want to understand is who is the one-third, I'm dead serious. I really, truly believe we're at a breaking point in this country!"

Her Morning Joe comrade Donny Deutsch chimed in, "How do one in three Americans still believe this man about corona or anything, the answer is only one thing: One in three Americans are racists, one in three Americans are terrified that [this country] by the year 2040 is not going to be majority white."

So, Trump is a liar and 33% of the country is racist for believing him.

If Trump wins reelection, Deutsch warned, "Mika, people like you, like me, like Gene Robinson could end up in jail." Trump also apparently is a dictatorial thug.

Earlier that week on Morning Joe, the Washington Post's Eugene Robinson complained about the Trump administration's handling of COVID-19. "We are pariahs," he whined. "We are the shole country that nobody wants people from. That's us now."

Joe Scarborough predictably agreed, and blamed "Trump's ignorance of history, Donald Trump's ignorance of medicine, Donald Trump's ignorance of epidemiology, Donald Trump's refusal to listen to his experts have put us in this position."

Neither Scarborough nor Robinson cited any specific action by the president to back up their claim, but that does not matter to them. Their purpose is to smear and lie and try to get Joe Biden and Kamala Harris elected.

Over on CNN's Cuomo Prime Time, left-wing host Chris Cuomo told Americans that Trump does not "give a damn" about COVID-19 and called a press conference only "to lie to you about the nature of the coronavirus threat." Also, Trump is "lying to you in a way that actually threatens your children," claimed Cuomo.

That's propaganda; it is not news reporting.

A related example, also on CNN, was reporter Jeremy Diamond's insistence that Trump might give his GOP nomination speech at Gettysburg because he "has consistently positioned himself as a defender of Confederate symbols and monuments to Confederate generals." Diamond cited no evidence to back up his smear. He lied.

Leading up to Joe Biden's selection of radical left Sen. Kamala Harris (D-Calif.) as his running mate, the leftist media made it clear that any criticism of a black, female candidate would be racist and sexist. In this way, the press can avoid discussing Harris's record and dismiss any tough questions as racist.

Sure enough, after Trump tweeted that Harris was "too far left" and "nasty," ABC's Terry Moran galloped to the rescue, stating, Trump "went back to his old playbook, resorting to a familiar sexist jeer for his new competitor calling the senator 'nasty,' trying to portray her as too far left for the country."

The New York Times whined, that Trump, "his Republican allies and conservative hosts on Fox News unfurled a string of sexist attacks on Ms. Harris," and added that Trump was "playing into white racist fears."

Neither Moran nor The Times explained how calling an opponent nasty is sexist or racist. They just said it — again, propaganda.

In other attacks against the president, New York magazine's Will Leitch asserted that Trump is responsible for no college football season this year; Facebook banned the pro-Trump super PAC, Committee to Defend the President, from running ads on its platform; and CNN's Brian Stelter absurdly claimed that "extreme" rhetoric, "especially vitriolic on the right, directed at Joe Biden" and "other Democrats" is not fair because "there is no equivalent to that on the left," tearing down the president.

Stelter, a leading propagandist against the president, actually said that, a brazen, fantastic lie. He knows damn well that CNN, MSNBC, ABC, CBS, NBC, the major newspapers, the universities, and Hollywood have been at war against Trump since 2016. They never accepted the results of that election and they are Hell-bent on making sure it doesn't happen again. They are hacks, propagandists, and they are everywhere.

The MRC is fighting against that jaundiced news every day. You can help us by making a donation to our nonprofit organization. Use the reply card and postage-paid envelope to make your most generous gift today. We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Leftist Media Spin and Censor to Help Elect Joe Biden

Unlike the relentless, vicious attacks the leftist media launch daily against President Donald Trump – every day since 2015, no less – the press is doing all it can to help Joe Biden get elected in November.

They are censoring the truth and spinning the news to protect him. They are painting a false picture of Biden as a “moderate,” when he and his running mate, Kamala Harris, support radical left policies such as abortion on demand, massive tax hikes, a Green New Deal, socialized medicine, health care for illegal aliens, and severe restrictions on gun ownership.

When Biden selected Harris, for instance, MSNBC and countless other outlets immediately labeled the pair a “moderate ticket” with “broad appeal,” centrist, a team that can “unify the country.” Earlier this year, CBS’s Ed O’Keefe labeled Biden’s plan to expand Obamacare as “moderate,” and CNN’s John King boasted that Biden is not “a liberal per se” but “more from the centrist part of the party.” MSNBC’s Eleanor Clift falsely claimed that Biden is “too centrist.”

They are lying.

Another issue is Biden’s brain and whether he may be suffering from senility – he’ll be 78 in November. He’s made numerous so-called gaffes but also some odd racial remarks the leftist press has tried to hide. For instance, on Aug. 5, Biden declared, “Unlike the African American community, with notable exceptions, the Latino community is an incredibly diverse community with incredibly diverse attitudes about different things.” In other words, all blacks think alike. (Imagine if Trump had said that.)

Despite Biden’s insipid remark, the Associated Press buried the lead and reported, “Biden draws distinction on black, latino political diversity.” ABC News did not quote Biden at all but said, “Biden faces backlash for comparing diversity in African American, Latino communities.” CNN mentioned the story once, and did not post it on Twitter or on the CNN website. MSNBC did not mention the story, the New York Times ran the AP spin, and the Washington Post actually tweeted, “If you listen to the clip, he didn’t actually say this.”

The press is so desperate to protect Biden that it won’t even report on what he actually says.

On a related note, a National Intelligence report in early August found that China and Iran want Biden to win the presidency. ABC, CBS, and NBC buried the story.

The leftist media also are not telling the public why Biden dropped out of his 1987-88 presidential run. As is documented, Biden was found to have plagiarized a paper in law school; plagiarized in his political speeches; lied about his class standing in law school (he was 76 out of 85); lied about having a “full scholarship”; and he lied about having earned three degrees – he only had two.

When these facts came to the public’s attention, Biden dropped out. Shh!

Among other things, the leftist media conveniently don’t report how Biden dropped out of his 1987-88 presidential run because he was caught plagiarizing and lying about his education.

New York Times Lies about Kamala

It should come as no surprise that as soon as Joe Biden announced his vice presidential pick, left-wing radical Sen. Kamala Harris (D-Calif.), the New York Times rushed to tell Americans that Harris is a “pragmatic moderate,” which is a lie. Harris’s lifetime American Conservative Union score is 3.03, and in 2019 it was 0. Yet the Times tweeted of Harris on Aug. 11, “A pragmatic moderate, she is the first black woman on a major party ticket.”

The Times article further dissembled, “A pragmatic moderate who spent most of her career as a prosecutor, Ms. Harris was seen throughout the vice-presidential search as among the safest choices available.” Pragmatic and safe? For the record, Harris is rabidly pro-abortion, anti-Second Amendment, pro-LGBTQ in all policies, supports the Green New Deal, and wants Medicare for all. Her policy views are hard left, but the “Newspaper of Record” wants you to think she’s “moderate.”

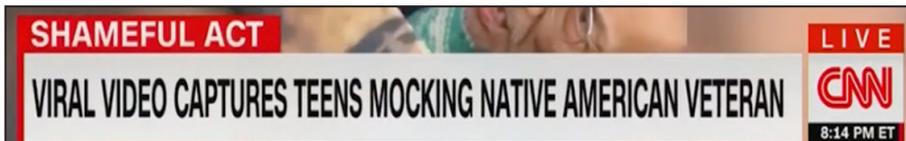

BITS & PIECES

Congrats, Nick!

Nick Sandmann, the teenage boy who was harassed by a left-wing Native American after the March for Life last year and relentlessly smeared and attacked as a racist bully by the leftist media, won his defamation lawsuit against The Washington Post. The Post settled and MRC President Brent Bozell said, “I hope it cost them many millions of dollars. It couldn’t happen to a better bunch.” (The lawsuit was seeking $250 million.)

“These reporters are lying scum who tried to destroy a teen-age kid just because he was pro-life,” added Bozell. “Big mistake. This kid just beat the crap out of them like he beat the crap out of CNN. And he’s not done.”

Back in January, CNN settled with Sandmann for an undisclosed amount — the case was seeking $275 million. Sandmann’s lawyers have filed six other lawsuits against major news outlets: Gannett newspapers, NBC, ABC, CBS, New York Times and Rolling Stone. Go get ‘em, Nick!

Commenting on Nicholas Sandmann winning his defamation lawsuit against the Washington Post, MRC President Brent Bozell said, “I hope it cost them many millions of dollars. It couldn’t happen to a better bunch.”

What NASDAQ?

Although the Big-Tech heavy NASDAQ Composite stock index closed at a record high 11,108.07 on Aug. 6, neither NBC, CBS, nor ABC said a word. They censored the index’s historic performance. That same day, “the Dow and S&P 500 posted five-day winning streaks,” reported CNBC, but, again, the network news shows didn’t say a word.

Back on June 10 when the NASDAQ closed above 10,000 for the first time in its history, the networks also kept quiet. And, on June 9 when the NASDAQ went above (not closed) 10,000 for the first time, ABC, CBS, and NBC were silent.

The network news programs are deliberately censoring positive market news. Their negative, left-wing agenda — in an election year — is clear.

CBS Hypocrites

After President Trump signed executive orders to provide some COVID-19 relief to unemployed workers, CBS reporter Major Garrett mocked the orders as inconsequential and “annoying.” Yet when President Obama signed an executive order on DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals), Garrett approvingly prattled off the Democrat talking points like a parrot. On Aug. 10, for Trump, Garrett whined, “This isn’t much voltage. It’s kind of like static electricity... For a moment you remember it, but it’s mostly annoying and doesn’t really solve the problem.”

Yet for Obama on Nov. 19, 2014, Garrett unhesitatingly declared, “The White House says it has the law and history on its side, that Presidents Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon, Reagan and Bush 41 all used executive actions to protect various immigrant groups.”

A little different than “annoying” and like static electricity, right? But that’s the hypocrisy of CBS News. Speak truth to power... so long as a Republican is in power.

CBS’s Major Garrett knocked President Trump’s executive order but praised President Obama’s, once again revealing his liberal hypocrisy.

Facebook Censors, Again

Conservative Christians David Benham and Jason Benham, “The Benham Brothers,” were kicked off HGTV because they opposed homosexuality, and now they have been censored on Facebook for stating it is “typical propaganda” to claim it is “patriotic” to vaccinate for COVID-19. Facebook closed that Aug. 7 post, saying it “goes against our Community Standards on misinformation” and this “can make some people feel unsafe on Facebook.”

So much for free speech or expressing one’s opinion.

But if you are the leftist media, no problem. USA Today declared on Aug. 6 that mandatory vaccination steps may seem “anti-American to some, [but] we believe that there is no alternative. Simply put, getting vaccinated is going to be our patriotic duty.” For those who don’t get vaccinated, USA Today proposed punishments: no school; no taking airplanes, trains, or buses; no federal benefits; and no job. Those ideas might make you feel unsafe, but they’re fine for Facebook.

The conservative Christian Benham brothers were blocked on Facebook for questioning a mandatory coronavirus vaccine.

Bozell: Tech ‘Behemoths’ Must ‘Be Held Accountable,’ Stop Censoring Conservatives

On FBN’s Evening Edit, MRC President Brent Bozell excoriated Big Tech a day after a House subcommittee hearing on the matter, telling the Fox Business Network’s Jackie DeAngelis that these “monster corporations” have “as much power or more power than any of the other three branches of the federal government” because they continue to face no accountability from Congress.

Bozell noted “private companies” “have every right” to conduct business and police content, but “what they don’t have a right to is special protection as an objective platform where they can’t be held legally liable for what they do.”

A slightly trimmed transcript is published below. To watch the video, visit NewsBusters TechWatch: MRC’s Bozell: Tech ‘Behemoths’ Must ‘Be Held Accountable,’ Stop Censoring Conservatives

Jackie DeAngelis: Let’s start with the question first. Are these social media questions just getting out right out of hand with respect to how they’re censoring content?

Brent Bozell: You know, Jackie, they have every right as private companies. They have every right to censor anyone they wish. However, what they don’t have a right to is special protection as an objective platform where they can’t be held legally liable for what they do and, secondly, they don’t have the right to go to Congress to say things under oath, commit perjury and say right to Congress that they have no, they have no biases when, on a daily basis, they are censoring conservatives every single day. ... If they can censor the president of the United States and get away with it, they can censor anyone they would like to and it’s what they’re doing.

DeAngelis: I want to talk to you about Facebook per se, because Mark Zuckerberg was on the Hill yesterday. He was saying, basically that, they don’t interfere in any way. That there’s no bias here. Google said we’re not going to interfere in the election. We’re not doing anything to swing it either way, yet so many people believe they are. What can the government do about this? ... How do you break this apart to try to start to take some action?

Bozell: Well, I would suggest to you that Silicon Valley has as much

On FBN’s Evening Edit, MRC President Brent Bozell discusses how the social media giants Facebook, Twitter, and Google are censoring conservatives and how difficult it is for entrepreneurs to compete with half-trillion-dollar companies power or more power than any of the other three branches of the federal government today. Why? Because there’s a system of checks and balances on the judiciary, on the legislative, and on the executive. There’s no checks and balances on Silicon Valley. These are massive — these are the biggest corporations in the world — in history. They have power worldwide and they’re deciding what is and what isn’t acceptable speech.

They’re deciding that if you’re the Ayatollah Khomeini calling genocide for Israel, calling them a cancerous growth, calling for their elimination, that’s okay because it is commentary. But if you’re the president of the United States calling for law and order in the United States, you’re censored because somehow you’re abusive. This is out of control. They have to be held accountable. Section 230 of the Communications Act that gives them protection that says they won’t be held liable for what they say. You have got to take that protection away from them. They have to be held liable just like Fox News is. Fox can’t get away with saying the kind of stuff they’re saying and yet they’re protected and Fox is liable.

... These are behemoths. These are monster corporations. Apple has a trillion dollars in cash. How are you going to compete with them?

DeAngelis: You can’t.

Bozell: How are you going to compete with Amazon? How are you going to compete with Facebook? You can’t compete with them, so you have got to do something where antitrust is concerned.

On FBN's Evening Edit, MRC President Brent Bozell didn't mince words when he detailed ways the liberal media engaged in "aiding and abetting an attempted coup" of President Trump through "character assassination...by tens of thousands of cuts."

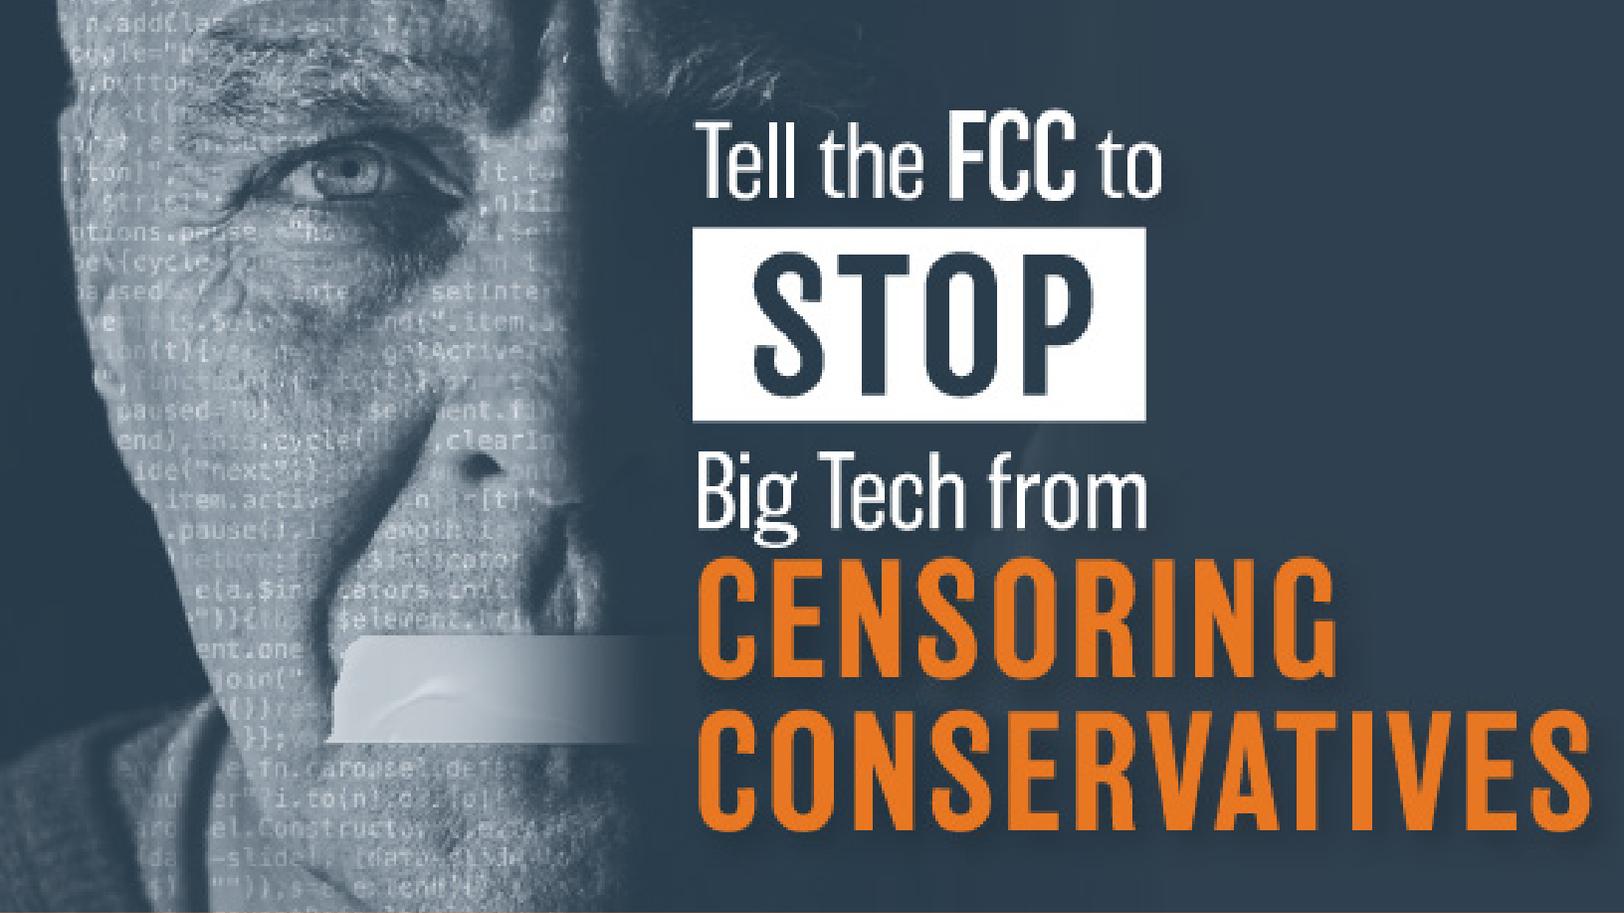

FNC's Sean Hannity shared NewsBusters writer Nick Fondacaro's article about CNN host Brian Stelter insisting that President Trump is trying to purposefully "crash" the country amid his "creeping authoritarianism."

On both Aug. 13 and 17, WMAL's talk-radio host Chris Plante cited his "good friends at the Media Research Center" and hailed several NewsBusters posts, including one about Tara Reade demanding the press ask Kamala Harris about Biden's accusers.

On FNC's Lou Dobbs Tonight, David Asman cited how an analyst at the MRC called the [Yates] blackout "Another example of the broadcast networks covering up the degree of corruption in the Russian investigation."

Tell the FCC to

STOP

Big Tech from

CENSORING
CONSERVATIVES

The conservative view is ... [CENSORED]?

It happens. Section 230, sounding like a chapter from a dystopian novel, gives the powerful free reign to manipulate, control – and eliminate – ideas in which it disagrees.

In reality, Section 230 is a provision of the 1996 Communications Decency Act that protects the Big Tech giants from being sued for their content and censorship of that content.

The Silicon Valley thought police have shielded themselves behind Section 230 to censor, without repercussion, conservative content.

The MRC has not escaped their omnipotent grasp, once being blacklisted from search results for several hours in what Google called “a technical glitch.” Accidental beta-test of a “camouflage conservative websites” algorithm, perhaps?

Of course, the Facebook/Google/Twitter/YouTube monolith has silenced many conservative organizations, movements, and voices – including President Trump.

Time to act. The White House petitioned the FCC to clarify that Section 230 “does not permit social media companies that alter or editorialize users’ speech to escape civil liability.”

That’s when the MRC’s Grassroots Army, as a battalion of free-speech patriots, came locked & loaded to fight. The FCC invited public input on the petition, ending September 17, and we asked you to join (and recruit 3 friends) Brent Bozell and the MRC in telling them, “I support the petition to review the scope of Section 230!”

The FCC received a bunch of great comments from the MRC’s Grassroots Army. Free speech is the bedrock of democracy. Thank you for participating and using your constitutional right to be heard, taking action, and helping to advance the cause of freedom.

We’ll keep you posted on this issue!
